Please help us to help you by telling us if there are any special features or concerns that you wish to be investigated with the property you are buying. The standard legal searches cover most but not all issues of concern to most buyers. There is no limit to the additional searches or enquiries that can be made, other than the price you are prepared to pay and the time you are prepared to wait before you receive the results. If there is anything unusual about the property you are buying, or any issues of particular concern to you, please let us have details below. We will advise you how to best cover your concern.
